

Policy Statement

Quality, Health, Safety, and Environment

AST Turbo AG is committed to provide services for turbomachinery on time and of excellent quality as we will perform reliably in accordance with applicable regulations and customer requirements while providing a healthy and safe workplace – for people and for the environment.

For that purpose, we aim to lead an incident-free operation by identifying potential hazards and eliminating unsafe situations, and to take appropriate measures to avert occupational health risks.

Through our management system, we ensure proper communication along the service line, control the processes' output, and identify continuous improvement options in order to improve the system's effectiveness, thus our services.

All our employees and contracted personnel are responsible, accountable, and committed to the implementation of this policy since services of high quality, protecting the well-being of involved people and the environment form an integral part of our daily work.
